2D is an illusion that can no longer be endured by Earth-space.
In 3D You could weed some rootlets and fertilize the reflections of beaks, chew between the contour lines of your toes, sliding into oil nature. You could squeeze a current, while hanging around along the wrinkles of the daybox.
From the second to the millenniums,
Netherlands become the roof of the sky.
The Sun left for a journey around the world, but it is too ardent for the electro-
-equipped interiors offered by CouchSurfing.
Its earthly localisation is inaccurate,
its return - uncertain.
The search for a dimension of the fallen common Star
